Contact details include:

- First name and surname;
- Gender;
- Address details;
- Telephone number;
- Email address.

3. For what purpose do we process personal data?

- 3.1. Finnick processes your personal data to perform the agreement in which you have instructed Finnick to provide legal services. Depending on the content of your instructions, your personal data and possibly also that of others will be processed. Your personal data are also processed for these purposes:

- Processing your payment;
- Sending mailings and/or newsletters;
- To be able to call or email you in relation to our services;
- To inform you about changes to our services;
- To improve our services;
- If we are legally obliged to do so, such as data that we need for our tax return.

4. How long do we retain personal data?

- 4.1. Finnick does not retain your personal data any longer than is strictly necessary in order to achieve the purposes for which your data have been collected, unless we are required to retain your data for a longer period by law.
- 4.2. When our activities have come to an end, the client files will be digitally archived for a period of 7 years in accordance with the fiscal retention period for administration. The starting point therefore is that a file will be retained for a minimum of 7 years after closure. In addition, legal expiry and limitation periods will be followed. This may lead to a situation where personal data may have to be retained for a longer period.
- 4.3. We conclude processing agreements with companies that process your data on our instructions to ensure the same level of security and confidentiality of your data. Finnick remains responsible for these processing operations.

5. Sharing personal data with third parties

Finnick will not sell your data to third parties and will provide these data only if this is necessary to perform our agreement with you or to comply with a legal obligation. We conclude processing agreements with companies that process your data on our instructions in order to ensure the same level of security and confidentiality of your data. Finnick remains responsible for these processing operations.

6. Cookies or similar technologies that we use

Finnick uses only technical and functional cookies. And analytical cookies that do not infringe on your privacy. A cookie is a small text file that is stored on your computer, tablet or smartphone when you first visit this website. The cookies we use are necessary for the technical operation of the website and your ease of use. Cookies ensure that our website works properly and, e.g., remember your preferences.
